Plus, we froth about the Baileys Holiday Shoe Store and Lowell Euro-Style yogurts

SPOONING: People, it's not often we make a big fuss over yogurt. But allow us to sing the praises of these Lowell European-Style yogurts we just got our hands on: These all-natural probiotic puppies combine Wisconsin milk and fresh fruit, and we can say that the name doesn't lie: they do absolutely taste closer to something from the dairy aisle at a French supermarket than the joyless goo that often passes for yogurt these days. They come in raspberry, peach, you name it; and in whole milk, nonfat and multi-grain versions, and the latter is our favorite. Fairway started carrying them this month, and they run about $1.50 for a 6 oz. cup. Find your location here.
